Helping Hand for Relief and Development

HHRD started its charitable work in 2005, in response to an earthquake in Pakistan. Since then, we have branched out to more than thirty countries worldwide, assisting with humanitarian response to war, drought, flooding, earthquakes, typhoons, fires and other natural and manmade catastrophes.

Mission

HHRD is committed to serve humanity by integrating resources for people in need. We strive to provide immediate response in disasters, and effective Programs in places of suffering, for the pleasure of Allah.

Vision

Helping Hand for Relief And Development (HHRD) as a Leader in Empowering lives, creating opportunities and strengthening the bond of humanity.

Emergency Relief and Disaster Management Program Mission and Vision

To work in partnership with existing HHRD programs around the globe in response to both natural and manmade disasters by providing survivors with food, water, shelter and safety. HHRD envisions a system that would make its efforts and investments more resilient and sustainable by considering global trends in disasters. All the efforts and investments of HHRD will contribute to the global framework for disaster management priorities.

Executive Summary

When a disaster strikes, the ERDM teams are among the first responders, swiftly mobilizing to deliver critical relief items to affected communities. Our initial response includes the distribution of hot meals, food packages, water, clothing, shoes, blankets, tents, and essential medications. We also provide mosquito nets, water filters, hygiene kits, and sanitary items to address immediate health and safety concerns.

Following the urgent relief phase, HHRD initiates comprehensive rehabilitation programs designed to support the recovery of the communities. These programs may include the construction of temporary shelter homes and the establishment of mobile medical clinics that provide ongoing healthcare services. Psycho-social support is also a key component, helping individuals cope with the trauma and stress post-disaster.

As communities stabilize, HHRD's focus shifts to sustainable development to ensure a resilient rebuild. Our long-term initiatives include constructing permanent housing and medical centers, and dental clinics to ensure comprehensive health care. Education support programs, orphan support programs, and skills development & learning programs are implemented to foster self-sufficiency and improve quality of life. Additionally, we invest in critical infrastructure such as drinking water wells, water tanks, and water supply systems. Health initiatives also cover cataract surgeries among other necessary medical services.

Each phase of our response, from immediate relief to long-term development, is designed to ensure that communities not only recover but also thrive in the aftermath of disasters. Our holistic approach guarantees that the aid we provide transforms lives, building a foundation for a stronger future.

As stewards of the donors' goodwill, HHRD takes great care to place food, relief and development opportunities in the hands of people around the globe. We appreciate everything our donors have done for us in supporting our work. Jazak Allah Khair, it could not have been done without you. Please consider donating again to help us move affected communities through the levels of disaster relief and rebuilding until they no longer need our assistance.

Emergency Relief in Palestine

12 Projects

The genocide and accompanying blockades in Gaza have led to a dire humanitarian situation, with widespread poverty, destruction of infrastructure, and shortages of food, water, and essential supplies. HHRD fought to deliver fresh food, clean water and winter relief items throughout the siege, navigating rapidly changing regulations in the name of humanitarian assistance. We are pleased to report that our donors have made a difference in the lives of thousands of innocent Palestinians, providing nutrition and shelter in the worst of times.

Tents

Families displaced during the ongoing tragedy in Palestine benefitted from multiple relief efforts including these sturdy, weather resistant tents. Each tent is designed to keep dirt and bacteria out, to let light in and to moderate temperature. HHRD purchased 1,690 tents for distribution in Gaza, but due to problems at the border, more than half the tents were forced to sit in a warehouse in Jordan for several months. We are pleased to report that the second shipment of tents has now been allowed into the city, completing the donors' gracious Sadequa by placing relief directly in the hands of our brothers and sisters.

Benevolent Kitchen

In the midst of the crisis, HHRD cooked and packaged more than 200,000 hot meals and distributed them throughout the displaced encampments. Hospital staff, elderly patients, children, women and families were all the recipients of this blessed gift from HHRD donors.

Bread & Water

In addition to hot meals and food packages, HHRD delivered bread and water to the people of Gaza, providing emergency nutrition in the midst of conflict.

Emergency Water

The water infrastructure in Gaza has been leveled, releasing sewage into the streets and making it very difficult to find a clean source of drinking water. HHRD responded by delivering fresh water via truck, ensuring that families had enough to meet their daily needs.

Food Distribution

During the height of the crisis, food was in short supply. Families were forced to pay outrageous prices for things like vegetables and oil, making basic nutrition nearly impossible for most people. HHRD held 8 distribution events for items like bread, flour and food packages. These essential supplies kept children from starving in the bleakest time.

Emergency Hygiene Facilities

In emergency situations, disaster can be compounded by disease if there are no sanitary facilities available. HHRD delivered both 1 and 4 unit restrooms to the people of Gaza, each of which came with a hand washing station. This small gesture saved thousands of people from suffering more pain and anguish, providing them with a way to maintain their dignity and humanity.

Lebanon Support

Lebanon has faced severe economic hardships, compounded by political instability and the displacement of thousands due to the ongoing Israeli conflict. This crisis has left many families unable to afford basic necessities, resulting in widespread hunger, inadequate shelter, and a lack of access to hygiene products and essential services. HHRD held 11 distribution events, giving away items such as mattresses, hygiene kits, hot meals, blankets and drinking water. There were also multiple food parcel giveaways, which contained essentials such as cooking oil, flour, and locally sourced goods.

Emergency Relief and Disaster Management in Pakistan

22 Projects

Pakistan is among the world's most vulnerable locations to climate change. Known as the world's "Third Pole," Pakistan's mountainous regions are covered with glaciers that contribute to flooding in times of record heat. Recent years have been challenging for displaced flood victims, but HHRD has been there every step of the way to provide stable housing, food and winter relief items. There are projects at all stages of disaster recovery in Pakistan, depending on the location. From the Seeds of Hope program and the model villages to emergency heat wave assistance, HHRD is supporting Pakistan through multiple interventions.

The Integrated Development of LOC (Line of Control) Affected Community Project

This project seeks to address the distinct challenges encountered by communities residing in conflict-prone regions near the Line of Control in Kashmir. The initiative aims to enhance preparedness, increase awareness, and improve livelihood opportunities, thereby fostering resilience and promoting sustainable development. Interventions include community meetings, kitchen gardening training, Ramadan food distribution, medical camps and the Mall of Humanity, allowing beneficiaries to select their own gifts from inKind shipping containers.

Flood Emergency Response

Flood affected communities in Lower Dir, Chitral, Gwadar, Rajan Pur, Ghizer, Mirpur Khas and Balochistan were supported through hot meals, food packages and clean drinking water.

Winter Relief

Freezing temperatures can be life threatening without the proper protection. In partnership with the Winter Relief project, HHRD's Emergency Relief and Disaster Management Program distributed 100 winter kits to deserving families in Rawalpindi. These kits include essentials such as blankets, coats and hats, ensuring that beneficiaries stay warm in the winter months.

Drought Emergency Response

In January 2024, below-normal rainfall was reported in Gilgit Baltistan, AJK Sindh, Balochistan Khyber Paktunkhwa, and Punjab province. HHRD delivered emergency water supplies to residents of Dheer Kot to ensure that people had enough to drink and cook.

Heatwave Response

A heatwave is a prolonged period of excessively hot weather, which may be accompanied by high humidity. These periods typically have temperatures significantly above the average for Pakistan and especially during the months from May to July.

NDMA forecasted that Heatwave Conditions to develop over Most Parts of the Country, especially Sindh from 21st May to 31st May 2024. On the recommendation of PDMA, NDMA and other line departments, HHRD provided relief by initiating mitigating measures through awareness campaign and establishment of Emergency Cooling Points at 13 locations of 12 districts of Sindh Province.

Seeds of Hope

The Seeds of Hope project was a lifeline for 450 small-scale farmers affected by devastating floods across all provinces. Recognizing the urgent need to restore livelihoods, the initiative provided these farmers with essential resources, including fertilizer, wheat seeds, and vegetable seeds. These critical inputs enabled them to resume agricultural activities, ensuring food security for their families and generating sustainable incomes. By empowering these farmers to rebuild their lives, Seeds of Hope played a pivotal role in fostering resilience, restoring dignity, and sowing the seeds of recovery in flood-stricken communities.

Health officials emphasize that the actual number of cases may be much higher due to underreporting by private healthcare facilities. Preventive measures, such as community awareness campaigns and mandatory case reporting, are being prioritized to manage and control the outbreak.

In 2024, HHRD Nepal implemented an initiative aimed to support individuals suffering from dengue. The relief operation provided mosquito nets and psychological support, with a special focus on vulnerable groups such as children, the elderly, and those with limited access to resources.

On November 8, around forty (40) Palestinian families with Filipino matriarchs crossed the Rafah border from Gaza.

The Department of Foreign Affairs repatriated a total of 102 Filipinos from November 7 to 14. They were accompanied by their Palestinian spouses and relatives—among them are pregnant women, children, elderlies, and individuals who need medical attention. While some were able to travel directly to their respective provinces, others were compelled to stay in hostels.

As soon as finances began to run low, they turned to the University of the Philippines (UP) for support. On November 21, 2023, the families were temporarily permitted to reside in the two conference halls of the university dormitory until December.

HHRD's donors supported a total of 16 of these families, providing them with cash assistance so that they can find housing while they adapt to their new life in the Philippines. Your Donation Changing Lives

The Sudanese Community in Chad

"We, the Sudanese refugee community in Abeche, Chad, extend our deepest gratitude for the food donations we have received. These supplies have brought much-needed relief to our families and have ensured that we can face each day with strength and hope. Your generosity has been a source of comfort in these challenging times."

The impact of this support goes beyond just sustenance; it has restored a sense of dignity and shown us that we are not alone in our struggles. May those who make these initiatives possible be blessed abundantly for their kindness and humanity."

Sara from Gaza

My name is Sara, and I am 6 years old. I've been in the hospital for over two months because my mother became very ill while we moved from our home to live in the camps due to the war. We had no choice but to leave our home to stay alive.

Unfortunately, my dad stayed behind to grab some important things, but he was unable to make it! I became an orphan at six. Since moving to the camps, we've been eating canned food whenever it was available. There were even times when I went two days without eating anything! It was a very difficult time, but I never lost hope. One of my few hopes was for my family to have a good meal together.

That hope became a reality when Helping Hand for Relief and Development came to help us. They provided us with hot meals, something I hadn't had in so long! Thank you, HHRD, for helping us. I hope that you continue to help us in many different ways. May Allah bless you.

Looking Forward...

Disaster Risk Reduction (DRR) Programs

While emergency relief efforts provide critical short-term support, DRR programs focus on long-term resilience building. These programs aim to equip communities, staff, volunteers, and partners with the knowledge and skills necessary to respond swiftly and professionally to disasters.

One key component of DRR is capacity building, which involves training workshops, simulation exercises, and educational programs to enhance disaster preparedness. By strengthening the capabilities of responders, we ensure that they can act efficiently during emergencies. Additionally, DRR initiatives involve risk assessment. Our teams work closely with local communities to identify potential hazards, develop preparedness plans, and implement preventive measures.

Community engagement is a vital part of DRR, as local populations are often the first responders in a crisis. By raising awareness and providing resources, we empower communities to take proactive steps in disaster preparedness. In 2024 we were able to implement various DRR programs in Pakistan, Kenya, Nepal and Afghanistan.

Kenya

Conducted a two-day training workshop covering participatory approaches to DRR, climate change adaptation, first aid, and emergency response.

Impact: Benefited 64 attendees, equipping them with skills and strategies to effectively manage disasters and build resilience in their communities.

Nepal

Nepal is vulnerable to natural disasters, particularly flash floods and landslides, which are recurring hazards in the region. Multiple stakeholders convened to establish a common understanding of climate change, identify local climate induced hazards and create action plans. Training was provided in two phases, for volunteers and for community and local leaders.

In addition to DRR, HHRD Nepal hosted a Preparedness on Climate Induced Disaster (PCID) conference.

Pakistan

DRR involves people at all levels of society from leaders to community members and children. HHRD Pakistan's DRR plan is expansive.

Community Member	Training Provided
HHRD Staff	Capacity building including DRR (Disaster Risk Reduction), CHS (Core Humanitarian Standards), Response/Preparedness Planning, Rapid Assessment,
Committee Members	Capacity building, project design
Community leaders & activists	Simulation training, Emergency Handling, Effective Communication/Coordination, Safety/First Aid and Social Mobilization, Village Disaster Management Plans
Community	Awareness, knowledge of local risks and incentives to prepare
School children	Prepared to respond to expected or unexpected events.

In addition to DRR, Pakistan was host to this year's Global Emergency Response Summit. GERS brings leaders from all HHRD countries together to discuss unfolding emergency situations and plan for future ones. The 4th GERS Summit was held in Mansehra in 2024.
